

REED NCFE's Recruitment Process

How do I apply?

If you feel you have what it takes to be part of the REED NCFE family, then apply for jobs via Reed's website - www.reed.co.uk/jobs

We will assess your skills, experience and values to ensure that you are suited to a career at REED NCFE. If you are successful at this stage, you will be contacted and invited to the next stage of the process.

Telephone Interview

This is to assess your suitability for the role and to ensure you have the skills required to join in the success at REED NCFE.

This is more informal than the final stage interview, however we feel this is one of the most important stages in our thorough selection process.

Face-to-Face Interview

This is the final stage in our process. This will consist of a panel interview with managers from REED NCFE and staff from the academic centre where our team is based. In addition, an in-tray exercise will also be completed on the day.

If you have any questions about our recruitment process, please email jobs@reed-ncfe.org.uk.
